We welcome Davis Chan to our General Council

“I’m delighted to have joined HCD’s General Council. Having lived in Hackney for more than 25 years, I value HCD’s commitment to supporting local enterprise, community spaces and co-operative values.

I hope to bring some of my professional experience from the corporate world to the General Council, offering constructive challenge and independent judgement.

I was particularly drawn to the way HCD combines strong social purpose with the practical challenge of building a sustainable organisation, and I’m also looking forward to learning more about community development in Hackney.”
